Introduction

THE first half of this file is a chronological list of all 4,661 baptisms in Barningham from 1581, when the parish registers began, to 1950. Companion files, listing baptisms alphabetically by name, follow from page 77 (1581-1800) and page 121 (1801-1950).

Early records are based on a transcript of the registers carried out in 1896 by the then Rector, the Rev E. Spencer Gough; later records are taken from registers held in Durham County Record Office, with additional information from the local history group's research documents. We have also included those methodist baptisms that we know of; records of these, however, are not available before the 1860s.

The list shows baptism dates, the names of those baptised and details of parents and where they came from, if known. If their names were not recorded in the register, we have given suggestions as to likely parents based on our lists of Barningham marriages from the same time. We can't, of course, guarantee that all our assumptions are correct.

There are a few gaps in the lists. Entries from February to July 1644 were removed from the original register for unknown reasons, and a handful of entries in 1584, 1690/91 and 1736 are partly unreadable. Occasionally entries were made some time after baptisms took place, and the accuracy of their dates is not certain.

Most baptisms took place soon after birth, sometimes on the same day, usually within a few weeks. Occasionally there are longer gaps – in a few cases more than a year, and in one instance a girl was baptised only when she was “grown to woman’s state”. Some 18th century register entries show the date of birth as well as that of the subsequent baptism and we have included this information in the listings.

Much can be learned from these listings. They show, for example, a clear decline in the number of children being baptised during the first two centuries covered by the registers. There were 887 baptised between 1600 and 1650, an average of 17 a year; between 1650 and 1700 this fell to 625 (14 a year); and between 1701 and 1750 there were only 546 (10 a year). The number rose a little between 1750 and 1800 (631, an average of 12 a year) but this was still only two-thirds the number 200 years earlier. It’s a clear reflection of the declining population of Barningham as its land was gradually enclosed, its employment opportunities declined, and its people began to move away to find work in the emerging industrial centres. There is no evidence that family size dropped during this period: there were as many with nine or ten children in the late 1700s as there were two centuries before.

The vast majority of recorded baptisms between 1580 and 1800 were of children born in wedlock, though there are plenty of first-borns arriving not long after their parents' wedding, and one on the actual day. There are only about 70 entries marked ‘bastard child’, ‘base-born’ or recording only a mother’s name (some of these may well have been widows). Curiously, more than half of them were born in the quarter-century between 1775 and 1800. This may indicate a decline in popular morals at the time, but it may just be that in earlier times fewer unmarried mothers bothered to have their infants christened.

The later listings reflect the steady decline in the population and birthrate in the area over the period. Between 1801 and 1850 there were 803 baptisms; between 1851 and 1900, 603; between 1901 and 1950 only 309.

We have retained original spellings throughout. Many surnames varied over the years, with Clawsons becoming Clarksons and Milners becoming Mellars, for example; people called Thompson were often also recorded as Thomson, Tompson or Tomson; Binks, Binckes, Bynkes and Benks were often the same family.

Family history researchers may find it helpful to use these lists in conjunction with other publications which can be found on this website: Barningham Brides, covering marriages during the same period, Where Lyeth Ye Bodies, a list of all recorded burials from 1503 to the present day, and Counted, five volumes of local census records.

We hope this file proves useful to anyone seeking to trace their ancestors from this area. If you have amendments or further information, please let us know and we will incorporate them into future editions.

Dates are shown in the order Year.Month.Day

Until 1752 New Year's Day was March 25 and the parish registers reflect this. We have updated them so that dates between January 1 and March 24, recorded in the registers as in the previous year, appear in these listings as the actual year according to today's calendar, with an asterisk to indicate the change: the register entry dated February 28th 1712, for example, appears in the listings as 1713.02.28*.

Mothers' names

An entry without brackets – eg, SMITH Ann – indicates that the full name of the mother was recorded in the register.

An entry with brackets – eg SMITH [Ann, nee BROWN?] – indicates that only the surname was recorded, and the first name and maiden name are assumptions based on our knowledge of marriages at the time. Where there is a choice of possible names we have suggested reference to the marriage register.
